

Lyrics to Evergreen by Lynncs

Every time I find the meaning of life it changes

A generation of ultraviolet ranges

Suddenly it shifts the gears to waves by the ocean

Can't control it

Suddenly I wonder if we're all here for the moment

Do we know it?

I don't wanna lie, I don't wanna die

In the wake of the eye of the storm

Wondering how if there is so much time

Then where's the line leading to something more

They say to find it in me and grow to be

Evergreen

I don't wanna walk in circles looking for a miracle

Spend every chance I have searching for the next big ritual

(I'm still searching, I'm still searching)

And suddenly it shifts the gears to waves by the ocean

Can't control it (control it)

Suddenly I wonder if we're all searching for something

(Why are we)

'Cause every time I find the meaning of life it changes

It changes

I don't wanna lie, I don't wanna die

In the wake of the eye of the storm

Wondering how if there is so much time

Then where's the line leading to something more

They say to find it in me and grow to be

Evergreen

(I'm still searching)

Evergreen

(I'm here waiting for the changes)

Evergreen

(I'm still searching)

Evergreen

(I'm here waiting)

'Cause every time I find the meaning of life it changes

'Cause every time I find the meaning of life it changes
